

November 2025

ISSUE 4

In this issue:

- From the desk of the editor
- A Feast of Creativity on Thanksgiving Island by CptCuddlefish
- Phroday's Take by Phroday
- What Does November Mean to Me? by nommaster_33
- In Requiem: Ælflaed
- A Catalog of Caable Statues on the Server by Alchemist243 & SilberFrost
- A Tango Halloween by be_loved
- Christmas 2: Electric Boogaloo by Zalvy
- A Note from the Mods

From the desk of the editor...

You may notice that this newsletter looks a little different from the last one. I'm experimenting with different possible styles. There will be a poll/survey for any Titan who would like to give an opinion of which format they prefer in the newsletter Discord channel. The last newsletter was more "newspaper", this month more "magazine".

Cheers, be_loved

A Feast of Creativity on Thanksgiving Island

by CptCuddlefish

As we wrap up November and head into the Christmas season, we want to take a moment to reflect on something we're truly thankful for on Titancraft: you—our incredible community. Over the past month, players transformed our Thanksgiving Island into a festive celebration of food, creativity, and shared memories.

If you haven't visited yet, it's absolutely worth the trip!

Hop on the balloon at Spawn, or Travel to 917 South in the Nether to reach the island.

At the center of Thanksgiving Island sits a giant table that our players have been filling with builds of their favorite dishes. Some crafted traditional holiday plates, while others showcased comfort foods, family recipes, or just fun snacks they love. The result is a wonderfully chaotic buffet!

If you'd still like to join in, there's plenty of room at the table:

- Build a plate of any food you love—holiday-themed or not.
- Share your creation in #seasonal-events and let us know why that dish matters to you.

Whether you built a dish, visited the island, or simply cheered on others, thank you for making Titancraft a place worth being thankful for.

Food knows no time of day or season - Phroday's Take

By Phroday

I'll never fully understand why, but I absolutely love McDonalds breakfast. Gimme a bacon egg and cheese biscuit and a sausage burrito and I'm in heaven. There was an incredible couple of years there where they served breakfast all day. Then the pandemic happened and it was lost, probably better for my health. And from my youthful days working food service, I know there are folks on the other side of the fence that would want a Big Mac at 8am. Why are these delicious egg variations only widely available for a short time in the morning at many places? Sorry, but the chef has a strange version of amnesia where he forgets how to fry or scramble an egg after 10am.

I say, untether food from times and seasons. I want pancakes for dinner. I want spaghetti for breakfast. Like many things, we have grown out of the requirement for certain foods to be eaten at certain times of day or year, but habits are hard to break. Back in July, I mentioned to my parents that I was making Chili. They seemed confused as to why I would be eating chili in the summer. Why wouldn't I? Yes the food is hot, but so are most meals I make. It could be argued that it has a bonus effect of making you feel warm inside that contrasts well with the chilly weather. Or maybe people just like pairing homonyms. I could understand maybe avoiding baking things in the summer as the oven running for hours could make the electric bill climb with my poor little AC unit struggling to maintain room temperature.

With Thanksgiving behind us and the pumpkin spice wave having crested, we will be seeing those items disappearing from shelves until next year's comeback. That points us to a marketing side of things that can be playing a big factor. If Starbucks had their Pumpkin Spice lattes available year round, the shine would die off, and folks would not care as much when it's back. It would be simple to pull off too, as there's not any pumpkin product in the drink, it's all spices! The same goes for our favorite holiday bird, the Turkey.

What is surely a surprise, 50% of all turkey purchases happen in the US in November, but the bird is available and delicious year round.

Here is the call to action! I encourage each of you to have a Denver Omelette for dinner; to eat pudding pops cream in the frozen depths of winter; start a 4th of July Turkey Stew tradition; Pumpkin spice your Easter Eggs. Praise be to the foods that have been incredibly breakfastified. Breakfast burritos, si señor! Breakfast pizza, bravissimo! Fried egg on my burger, don't mind if I do. I don't know if there is some kind of breakfast-based lasagna out there or not, but I encourage you to make it a thing. Remember what the Advertisement wizards at the Kraft Heinz organization did to help us break these chains of time of day-based dining oppression:

Pizza in the morning,

Pizza in the evenin',

Pizza at supper time!

When pizzas on a bagel,

You can eat pizza anytime!

What does November mean to me?

by nommaster_33

As the air grows colder, the days are shorter, and as the last leaves fall to the ground, I find myself in that space of reflection. November has always been like that for me. It's that quiet tug towards gratitude, reflection, and all the little pieces of life we don't always slow down enough to appreciate. That makes me think about the same question: What am I thankful for?

Growing up, there were always the usual worksheets or hands made into turkeys and written on with what we were thankful for. In doing these since I was young, I always heard the same answers: family, friends, communities, a roof over my head-now don't get me wrong, I'm deeply grateful for these things.

For my family, who raised me into who I am today. My friends who are there when times are rough or even banter a little and bring a smile to my face. For the communities I'm a part of and love being a part of which includes this one.

But, as I've grown older, I think I'm understanding that gratitude isn't a loud thing-it's in the small, quiet gestures in our day-to-day lives.

But moving away from all that, let's get into what we are here for: the food (obviously). I had asked the Titans about what their favourite Thanksgiving foods were, and I'm here to present the results. There was a landslide winner among them all, so let's dive right in:

Stuffing won first place with 13 votes, mashed potatoes took second place with 12 votes, and dinner rolls took third place with 11 votes.

We had other contenders in the running as well, but were lower on the list:

Roast turkey with 8 votes

Pumpkin Pie (with the right amount of Cool-Whip) also with 8 votes

Other with 7 votes

Cranberry Sauce with 5 votes

Sweet potatoes with 4 votes

Ham with 3 votes

And finally, there's corn with 2 votes.

Now touching on that Other option for a second; some Titans gave dishes they have around this time of year, and I want to give light to those as well:

We have deviled eggs from ElleKittie, homemade noodles with chicken broth from Lankrick2002, and pecan pie from be_loved. All delicious options, all around.

Happy Thanksgiving Titans.

In Requiem: Ælflaed

On November 20th, the following was posted to server announcements:

We are saddened to bring you the news that one of our beloved server moderators Ælflaed passed away earlier this week after a hard-fought battle with cancer. Ælfy had an immense amount of love in her heart which she spread throughout the community and to everyone who had the good fortune to know her. She not only gave her love to the community but found love here as well, her husband and fellow moderator DropDaBass. She will be deeply and profoundly missed.

To honor her memory, we will be releasing a special item she asked us to make for the server and make it freely available at spawn in the staff credits room for the remainder of the season. Her hope, and ours, was that it would make you feel loved and cherished even in the hardest of times.

We will also be opening a new thread Requiem for everyone to share memories and condolences. We ask that unless you knew them personally, please use this thread to leave a message for Drop so we don't overwhelm his DMs. We will also be making a statue for her in Statue Valley where you can bring books and signs and flowers. We will post more information about this when we have it in the thread.

Thank you all for creating a community full of so much love.

Cataloging Caables Across the Server

by Alchemist243 & SilberFrost

Caable Statues are a long standing tradition on Titancraft, appearing with frequency each season. Although light on clothing, they are heavy on style and bombast, making a big impression no matter the placement, pose, or predicament. Here I, Alchemist243, with help from SilberFrost, will try to collect and catalog all known Caables cast around the server.[]

First, we start at Spawn, with a few immediate Overworld options.

Entertainment District: Tickle My Nipple Game Statue

By Quest27 & Caable

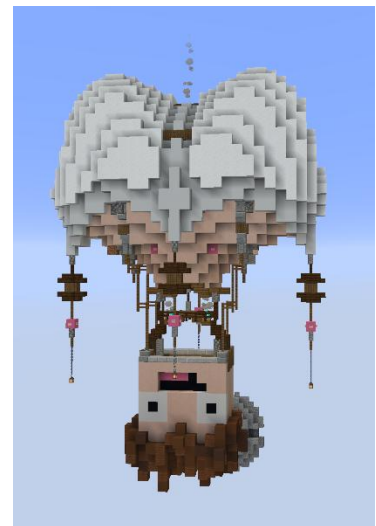

This Caable is lying on the ground, ready for you to Tickle his Nipple, as Quest27 has created a game! Play by inserting diamonds into the nipple, press the other nipple, and you can win! A new kind of slot machine, perfect for titans, and just outside the spawn building in the ED.

Shopping District: Seasonal Bee/Trick or Treat Statue

If you go back through the spawn building, and into the Shopping District, you will see another magnificent Caable statue. This one, is Caable's main statue, atop his honey shop and where one can call for a Caable themselves. It is seasonally updated, currently wearing a bee costume and holding a trick or treat candy basket. Previous updates include 4th of July, Pride, & Easter theming!

Outside Shopping District: Underpants Balloon

Turn your head to the shoreline, past Celebration Island, and you can see a Caable Balloon in the distance. This balloon sees the iconic white Caable briefs catching the wind and holding up Caable's head. Many nipple decorations can be seen incorporated into the structural design. Caable's hallmarks pair incredibly well with a classic hot air balloon.

Nether Hub: Caable in the Fog

Going back into the spawn building, and then into the Nether, reveals the next stupendous statue. Beneath the ice of the Nether Hub, Caable is seen among the fog at the bottom, with multiple streams of energy coming towards him. It's unknown if his nipples have this kind of power or if this is a one-off incident.

Villager Trading Nether Hub: Hades Caable

To see another Nether Caable, one only needs to go down the West tunnel, past the Guardian farm, into the crevice in the wall. This is the villager trading hub, with portals to each villager hall, and beneath the tinted glass floor, a hellish Caable can be seen. This Caable has fire in his hands, and his hair glows blue with flames. This Caable seems to enjoy the fiery underworld he lords over.

North Tunnel (-802): Cliffhanger Caable

Location: _YTBLANK's Base

Starting through the Nether Tunnels, we get to the first North Tunnel Caable. At -802 North, through _YTBLANK's portal, a cliffhanging Caable is awaiting. Fully equipped with 2 pickaxes and a headlamp, this Caable is ready to mine and crawl through some caves. Assuming he can get down safely, as he appears to be in a precarious situation.

North Tunnel (-1330): Fishing Caable

Location: M3Gumbo's Base

Back into the North tunnel to see the next nipple statue, we move over to North -1330 and go through M3Gumbo's portal. Here, just in the distance atop a massive flowering lilypad, Caable can be seen, fishing, and wearing a sunhat. It's a beautiful, peaceful scene, but Caable may want to put some sunscreen on, wouldn't want to sunburn before he catches anything.

East Tunnel (210): OnlyPlants Caable

Location: TypoIRL's Only Plants Facility

Moving on to the East Tunnel, at 210, we have our next Caable in the catalog. Inside TypoIRL's storage and farms, we see Caable bursting from the walls of the industrial area. Full of foliage and greenery, this Caable fits right in with the OnlyPlants farming going on around him.

East Tunnel (312): Gnome Caable

Location: ElleKittie's Base

Off to a more magical and fungal part of East Tunnel, at ElleKittie's 312 is where we meet our next Caable. This Caable fits in the fantastical setting with some Gnomish attire and is giving 2 thumbs up. A black belt with a big golden buckle is seen just above the iconic white briefs. The magical landscape compliments the gnome Caable's whimsical simplicity.

East Tunnel (660): Crane Caable

Location: RomanEmpire_1's City

Further down the East tunnel, RomanEmpire's magnificent city is the showcase of our next statue. In the midst of the city found at East 660, a construction crane can be seen holding Caable. Unsure if the face is of enjoyment, terror, or confusion, this Caable is gripping onto the crane like monkey bars.

East Tunnel (1212): Statue Valley Caable

Location: Drop & Aelf's Statue Valley

Going back into the Nether, and through East tunnel to 1212, leads us to the next statue. Through the portal into the Statue Valley, set up by Drop and Aelf, Caable awaits. Among beautiful deer of light and mischievous Teknicians, Caable is doing what he can to block the view of the fellow Titan's statue behind him. A classic mischievous Caable.

South Tunnel (86): Axolotl Caable

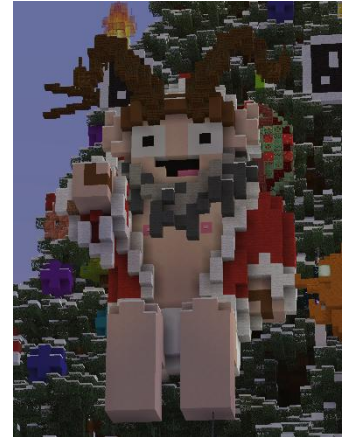

Location: Freshers

Ending our East Expedition, we start at the South Tunnel with the Freshers down South 86. Through the beautiful, lush tunnel and just outside the lush cave, Caable is sitting awaiting to welcome newcomers to Titancraft. He's donned a bright Axolotl beanie that seems to be covered in nipples itself. Unsure if the nipples are a virus, but do not be worried about contamination, mods stay abreast of the situation.

South Tunnel (284): Christmas Caable(s)

By Caable + ?

Down the South tunnel, we start on the Holiday Tunnel, where a compendium of Caables can be found. First, we start in the snowy Christmas district. 2 Caables can be seen here. First, a small Santa Caable is riding a sleigh, with a sack of gifts in one hand, and holding reins for Reindeer, all above a sweet Merry Christmas sign. If you go to the major tree, you can see the bigger Santa Caable with Krampus style horns and a beard. The nipples of course peak through.

South Tunnel (284): Easter Caable Trio

By Caable, Lite, & Yotta ?

On to the Easter District, there's a trio of statues our unclothed subject has found himself in. Between a sculky Easter Yotta, and a bright pink Lite, Easter Bunny Caable is sitting in an easter basket, with nipples all around. Bunnies & a cat surround them, adding to the egg-cellent easter theme. A lone nipple seems to have even spread over to the egg decoration site.

South Tunnel (284): Halloween Caable(s)

Off to a spookier side of the tunnel, there are two Halloween Caables among the graves in the night. In the original Halloween District, evoking Jack Skellington, Caable can be seen with the iconic massive collar and above the twisted platform. He does seem to be missing his hair, and as normal, his clothes. Scaring us into the next Halloween district, our next Caable is being consumed by some Lovecraftian horror coming up from the swamp. The blue-green monster has multiple eyes, tentacles, and a Charybdis-esque maw, upon which Caable has found himself in.

South Tunnel (329): Caablezilla

Location: Glammie's Base

Leaving the Holiday tunnel, and down to Glammie's tunnel at 329, we see the next Caable carving. This statue of Caable has spikes, and breathes blue nuclear fire, a true Kaiju. The radiation seems to have given him more nipples too, with 6 present on his chest. Here's hoping he doesn't need to fight King Yottadora at great cost to the server.

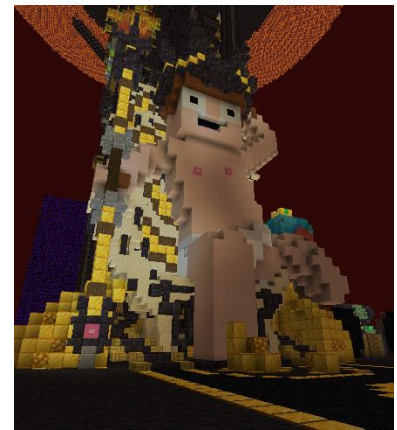

South Tunnel (1000): Caable of Ra

Location: GrimBirb's Egyptian Mesa

Going to a drier area further down the South tunnel, we find our next Caable in GrimBirb's Egyptian base. This Caable has certainly tanned and is wearing Egyptian attire. He's holding an Ankh and a staff, with headgear symbolizing his reign over the vast desert lands. The bird atop his helmet shows the power of the nipples too.

South Tunnel Nether Roof (2450): Golden Throne Caable

Back into the Nether, atop the bedrock roof, all the way at the Gold Farm reveals the Golden Caable. This Caable sits lazily upon a throne and pile of gold, holding a mighty staff and wearing a crown. Nipples can be seen on the staff, emphasizing the unique power of this Caable. He guards the Gold Farm but seems content enough to let you use it.

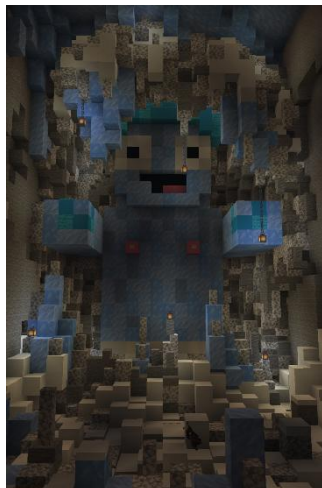

West Tunnel (-158): Scuba Trident Caable

Location: Alchemist243's Deep Sea Duel Game

On to the West Tunnel, and starting in the West ED, our next Caable is in some aquatic scenery. This Caable is out in the bay, above Alchemist's Deep Sea Duel Trident Arena. He's equipped with a scuba mask for the occasion, and is brandishing a trident to engage any deep sea dangers he may encounter. A fun simple Caable, as a great marker for the game.

West Tunnel (-800): Phrozen Caable

Location: Phroday's Base

Down a bit, through Phroday's portal, sees Caable in a chilly situation. This Caable has been Phrozen for so long to such a degree his skin seems to have turned blue like ice! Only his nipples and face seem to have retained any color. I wonder if he could be defrosted, or if he'd just melt into a puddle with nipples floating atop.

West Tunnel (-806): Shogun Caable

Location: Ghandi's Base

Just across the tunnel, at -806, Caable has donned a Shogun helmet, and wields a katana, all in an effort to fit in with Ghandi's incredible scenery. The incredible Japanese buildings and style makes this Caable feel right at home. Even if the briefs and no shirt look may not meet historical standards.

West Tunnel (-1057): Dragon Rider Caable

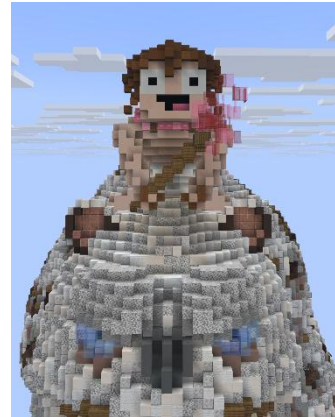

Location: Evade & LunarCrumpet's Medieval Area

Over a bit, into LunarCrumpet & Evade's tunnel, a Knight Caable is wreaking havoc around the area. Riding a black dragon, wielding a flaming sword, and wearing a crested helm, this Caable has ravaged the countryside. There's hope yet, that the warriors in Evade & Lunar's castle can ward off the bare-chested one.

West Tunnel (-1131): Alice Caable

Location: Alice Project

Through the looking glass, the next Caable awaits. In the Wonderland at -1137, Caable can be found at home, riding a magnificent beast, among Alice, the White Queen, and her subjects. Engaged, and pointing forward towards the Red Queen, Caable points a nipple-tipped wand, ready to charge into battle.

West Tunnel (-1453): Titancrafttanic Iceberg Caable

Location: Wrathofthefrog & Lady KB's Titancrafttanic

Across the tunnel and down aways, just past the 13 banner at -1453 is the Titancrafttanic. A truly massive project embarked on by Lady KB & Wrath. Caable however seems to be stuck in an iceberg along their journey. Let's hope he doesn't sink their plans, leading to a watery and unclothed grave.

West Tunnel (-1800): White Walker Caable

Location: DeynaTaggering's Base

Back to the nether for our last Caable, over at Deyna's -1800 frozen landscape our chilly carving can be seen. This Caable is huge, towering over frozen walkers of Yotta and Lite. This Caable wields a sword, and is covered in frosty veins over his entire body. He commands the frozen bodies of the former mods, who can only hope to break free of their icy curse.

Alchemist's Lectern in the Halloween District

A Tango Halloween

by be_loved

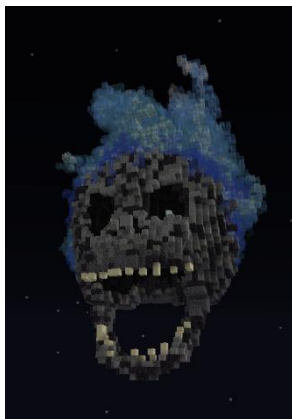

Elleliteration's Halloween District build

On November 1st, Tango delighted us all with his presence for a tour of the Halloween district and a pumpkin carving contest. As usual, Tango was joined by a gaggle of excited Titans as he toured the amazing builds. He played (and lost) some games and handed out tricks and treats to each of the builders. The consuming darkness of the Halloween district perfected the backdrop for tours of the giant flaming skull in the sky above the district, various haunted houses, and most frightening of all, READING. Good game to all those who contributed to the district and were able to attend the stream while Tango toured.

Halloween egg game designed by YeetElite with help from FlubsTubs & special thanks to SilberFrost & Coccolithophor

"Flaming Skull" by Molter

A wild Tango during the stream

Group picture taken during the Halloween livestream

Christmas 2: Electric Boogaloo

By Zalvy

Is a second version of each seasonal district overplayed yet? We hope not, but no worries, we won't make it to Easter 2, at least not this season...

Many have already been anticipating it, and the Christmas District is back as of now. Santa has moved, but he didn't get very far. He settled right next to the old Christmas District. You can find his new portal right opposite the old one at South 285 or you can hop on his... balloon? Flying carpet of presents?... It's your pick.

You'll find that Santa has put up a new Christmas Tree that'll host new Secret Santa presents, so leave some room for those when you pick a spot to make your own. You can sign up for Secret Santa at the post office house next to the green portal house. If you are one of those lucky people that have already amassed all the riches and materials a minecraft player could want for this season, that is no reason to pass up a Santa wish, get creative! Ever wanted someone to play a couple of mini-games with? Never had a personal server tour? Too shy to ask somebody to introduce you to the above or Titancraft TCG and always wanted to give it a try? Your Secret Santa might just give an opportunity to make the best memories before the season ends. Last but not least Santa has reserved a very special spot for a slightly different kind of Christmas Event this season. In addition to the usual Christmas Village and Builds Area you will be able to sign up for a small build competition that'll last about a week. Keep a lookout in server-announcements for more info at a later point in time. We look forward to seeing all kinds of sweet builds (pun intended).

That's all ho-ho-ho, may you all have a Merry Christmas!

A Note from the Mods:

Big news, Titans! As we look ahead to Season 11, we're opening up both the Nether Hub and End Island projects for a community-wide, friendly contest. You can start brainstorming, designing, and submitting your ideas right now. There's no Season 11 start date yet, which means you've got plenty of time to plan, create, and polish something truly amazing. Help shape the world we'll call home next season!

Form Link: <https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSdeTwOGpRgc9vrT7D1mmaXim5TELw9-qYHev3OFnIWgmMNMnA/viewform?usp=sharing&oid=116613226483041465373>

Changes that have recently been made on the server:

- The Above well has received a new tool! Be on the lookout for Green Thumb Shears!